DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- Claims 1-29,46-53, drawn to a method, medium and system, classified in class 700, subclass 282.
- II. Claims 30-37, drawn to an apparatus, classified in class 340, subclass 309.16.
- III. Claims 38-45, drawn to a system, classified in class 604, subclass 891.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions II or III and I (claims 1-21 and 50-53) are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown:

(1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using for instance the product can be used as an oven timer.

Inventions II or III and I (claims 22-29) are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as a computer disk for storing anything other an instruction, e.g. word processing files. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I (claims 46-49) and II are related as combination and subcombination.

Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require an input/output device. The subcombination has separate utility such as an oven timer.

Inventions III and I (claims 46-49) are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require means for communicating and means for rejecting. The subcombination has separate utility such as a control system for controlling for controlling an automated cell culture medium infusion system.

Inventions III and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require means for communicating and means for rejecting. The subcombination has separate utility such as a control system for controlling an automated cell culture medium infusion system.

Art Unit: 3763

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
